Program Notes

The Indian Dances were originally composed for string quartet and their initial public performance took place in January, 1916, by the Zoellner String Quartet, to whom they are dedicated. During the summer of 1916 the composer, while at the MacDowell Colony in Peterboro, N. H., scored them for orchestra, and their first performance in this enlarged form occurred at Minneapolis, Minn. on October 29, 1916, when Mr. Emil Oberhoffer produced them at a concert with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra.

* * *

The Deer Dance is part of the annual memorial service of the Rogue River Indians of Oregon for those who have passed away. The opening melody is intoned by the chief singer and taken up in turn by the assembled company. Then follows a commemorative speech by the chief, suggested by the cadenza for the solo cello, after which the melody is repeated. After this the dance proper begins with a livelier melody in two-four time accompanied by the drum in three-four time, a cross rhythm not uncommon in Indian music. While the melody is rendered by the chief singer and the women, the middle-aged men accompany with an interval approximately a rising minor third, while the old men utter a similar falling third, the whole combining with the drum in a curious bit of primitive ensemble. While this is going on the company stands in a semi-circle, men and women alternately, and presently dancers pass in and out amongst them, imitating the hunter pursuing the deer and other exploits of the deceased.

The War Dance needs no special comment beyond the fact that it is a Cheyenne melody, accompanied throughout by the drum.

Charles Sanford Skilton, the composer of these Indian Dances, is of New England ancestry, and was born at Northampton, Mass. He is a Yale graduate, a Fellow of the American Guild of Organists, and at present Professor of Organ, Theory of Music and History of Music at the University of Kansas.

The woodwinds (Flutes, Oboes, English Horn, Clarinets, Bassoons) and brass (Horns, Trumpets, Trombones, Bass Trombone/Tuba) sections have various rhythmic patterns and dynamics. The strings (Violins, Viola, Cello, Bass) have more melodic and rhythmic lines. Percussion includes Indian Drums, Cymbals, and Bass Drum. The Harp is also present. The score includes performance instructions such as mf espress., p, trem., and pizz. (pizzicato).
