

There Was a Young Lady

For Children's Choir and Piano

Carlotta Ferrari 2018

duration 2 minutes

There was a Young Lady whose chin
Resembled the point of a pin;
So she had it made sharp, and purchased a harp,
And played several tunes with her chin.
(Edward Lear, "A Book of Nonsense", 1846)

Illustration: Edward Lear 1846 (public domain)

Valse ♩. = 60

S f There was a young la - dy whose chin, there

A f There was a young la - dy whose chin,

Piano f

9

was a young la - dy whose chin, there was a young

whose chin, there was a young

18

la-dy whose chin, there was a young la-dy whose chin, re - sembled the point of a la-dy whose chin, whose chin, re - sembled the point of a

27

pin,

pin,

mp

1C (harp-like)

35

so she had it made sharp, she had she had it made so so she had it made sharp, she had she had it made

f

3C

45

sharp, she had it made sharp, she had it made sharp, and she pur-chased a sharp, she had it made sharp, and she pur-chased a

mf

mp

1C (harp-like)

54

harp, she pur-chased a harp, a harp, she pur-chased a harp, harp, she pur-chased a harp, a harp, she pur-chased a harp,

f cresc.

f

61

and played sev-er-al tunes with her

and played

3C

71

chin, and played sev-er-al tunes with her chin, sev-er-al tunes with her chin, and played sev-er-al

80

her chin, her chin, her chin, her chin, her chin!
 tunes with her chin, her chin, her chin, her chin, her chin, her chin!

88

her chin, her chin, her chin, her chin, her chin!