To let tyranny bind it again!

But 'tis past—and tho' blazon'd in story
The name of our Victor may be,
Accurst is the march of that glory
Which treads o'er the hearts of the free.

Far dearer the grave or the prison
Illum'd by one patriot name,
Than the trophies of all who have risen
On Liberty's ruins to fame!

Ye Blakes and O'Donnels, whose fathers resign'd

That repose which, at home, they had sigh'd for in vain,
Join, join in our hope that the flame which you light
May be felt yet in Erin, as calm, and as bright,
And forgive even Albion while blushing she draws,
Like a truant, her sword, in the long-slighted cause
Of the Shamrock of Erin and Olive of Spain!

God prosper the cause!—oh, it cannot but thrive.
While the pulse of one patriot heart is alive,
Its devotion to feel, and its rights to maintain.
Then, how sainted by sorrow its martyrs will die
The finger of Glory shall point where they lie:
While, far from the footstep of coward or slave,
The young spirit of Freedom shall shelter their grave
Beneath Shamrocks of Erin and Olives of Spain.

fate leaves thy love to me; 'Tis not in joy to charm me, Un-thou wert, like them, un-true. But while I've thee be-fore me, With heart so warm and eyes so bright, No

- less joy be shared with thee. One minute's dream about thee Were worth a long, and end-less year, Of clouds can lin-ger o'er me, That smile turns them all to light.

wak-ing bliss with-out thee, My own love, my on-ly dear!

And tho' the hope be gone, love,
That long sparkled o'er our way,
Oh! we shall journey on, love,
More safely, without its ray.
Far better lights shall win me
Along the path I've yet to roam!—
The mind that burns within me,
And pure smiles from thee at home.

Thus, when the lamp that lighted
The traveller, at first goes out,
He feels awhile benighted,
And looks round in fear and doubt;
But soon, the prospect clearing,
By cloudless starlight on he treads,
And thinks no lamp so cheering
As that light which Heaven sheds.

On this occasion a song was written by one of our bards, in which an Irish virgin is made to give the preference to her dear Coullin or the youth with the flowing locks, to all strangers (by which the English were meant), or those who wore their habits. Of this song, the air alone has reached us, and is universally admired."—Walker's Historical Memoirs of Irish Bards, p. 124. PIANO.

The piano introduction consists of two staves. The right hand starts with a treble clef, a key signature of one sharp (F#), and a common time signature (C). It begins with a piano (p) dynamic and features a melodic line with eighth and sixteenth notes. The left hand starts with a bass clef and provides a harmonic accompaniment with chords and moving lines.

The first system of the song features a vocal line and piano accompaniment. The vocal line is on a single staff with a treble clef, one sharp, and common time. It contains two lines of lyrics. The piano accompaniment is on two staves (treble and bass clefs) with a key signature of one sharp and common time. The lyrics are:

Their sighs have no freshness, their odour no worth:
'Tis the cloud and the mist of our own Isle of showers,
That call the rich spirit of fragrancy forth.
So it is not 'mid splendour, prosperity, mirth,

PIANO

The first system of the piano introduction consists of two staves. The right hand plays a melodic line with eighth and sixteenth notes, while the left hand provides a steady accompaniment of eighth notes.

The second system continues the piano introduction with similar melodic and accompaniment patterns.

The third system continues the piano introduction.

Hea!.....
Hea!.....

But as I was walking up Bandon Street,
Just who do you think that myself should meet
    But impudent Barney O'Hea!
He said I looked killin'--
I called him a villain,
And bid him, that minute, get out of my way;
He said I was joking,
And grinned so provoking,
I couldn't help laughing with Barney O'Hea.
    Impudent Barney,
    He has the blarney,
    Impudent Barney O'Hea.

He knew 'twas all right when he saw me smile,
For he is the rogue up to every wile,
    Impudent Barney O'Hea!
He coaxed me to chuse him,
For if I'd refuse him,
He swore he'd kill Corny the very next day;
So for fear 'twould go further,
And just to save murder,
I think I must marry that madcap O'Hea.
    Bothering Barney,
    'Tis he has the blarney
    To make a girl Mistress O'Hea.

3. "What would you do, love, when home returning,
With hopes high burning, with wealth for you,
If my bark, which bounded o'er foreign foam,
Should be lost near home—ah, what would you do?"
"So thou wert spared I'd bless the morrow,
In want and sorrow, that left me you!
And I'd welcome thee from the wasting billow,
This heart thy pillow—that's what I'd do!"
